

Rs 1.5 crore in 60 days. From cold.

No sales team hired. No SDRs to manage. One system, built once, running every day.

| The result   |                                   |
|--------------|-----------------------------------|
| Rs 1.5 crore | closed in 60 days                 |
| 72%          | of everything sent got read       |
| 3,964        | decision makers reached, all cold |
| 0            | salespeople hired to get them     |

---

Where every business loses the money

| The gap  |                                                                            |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 42 hours | the average time a business takes to answer a new lead                     |
| 21x      | more likely to qualify that lead if you answer in five minutes, not thirty |
| 80%      | of sales need five or more follow-ups                                      |
| 44%      | of salespeople stop after one                                              |

The deals are sitting at follow-up five and six. Almost nobody gets there, because no human chases four thousand people six times, on time, without forgetting. The data decides who is worth chasing and the system does the chasing. That is the entire product.

While you decide, the same buyers are being messaged by someone else. Month one: list built, contacts verified, one channel live, one page showing what was sent, read and replied.

anandiyer.co.in